

Essential Topics in British Politics and Government

This highly successful text, originally written by Phil Cocker, has been completely revised by Alistair Jones and up-dated to cover recent developments on the political scene. Essential Topics is a key text for students at A/S, A2 and undergraduate courses in British Government and Politics, as well as Citizenship. It covers a wide range of important topics that are essential elements of the curriculum. Unlike many other texts, Essential Topics focuses upon particular aspects of general subject areas. Each chapter analyses a key question, such as: Does Britain need a written constitution?; Is Britain still the dirty man of Europe?; Is there still a glass ceiling?; Is Britain still the reluctant European?; Are we moving towards a federal Britain?; Is there now a Presidential Prime Minister? These and a range of other questions are examined in detail. Definitions of key terms are highlighted, and a summary of key terms is provided at the end of each chapter. Added to this, supplementary reading lists and internet sites are also included to enable students to utilise a wide variety of resources.
