

Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News: In New Orleans and Indianapolis

A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black to white racial demographic was almost the exact opposite. The goal was to determine if there were differences in the way crime was reported in a predominately white city (Indianapolis) versus a predominately black city (New Orleans).

The local news in each city was recorded over a four month period in 2003. The study consisted of a content analysis combining both quantitative and qualitative approaches. There were a total of 294 crime stories analyzed in this research. Critical Race Theory was applied in the analysis. Based on the results of the analysis, it appears that whites were reported as suspects most often in Indianapolis and blacks in New Orleans, but when compared to national crime statistics reported by the FBI, there is some over- emphasis in local news on blacks as suspects in both cities. Murder is also over-reported in local television news in both cities when compared to reports from police departments from each city.

[\[PDF\] With Shelley in Italy: A Selection of the Poems and Letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley Relating to His Life in Italy](#)

[\[PDF\] Kerk-zeeden Ende Gewoonten Onder De Jooden \(Dutch Edition\)](#)

[\[PDF\] De Nieuwe Reisiger Of Beschryving Van De Oude En Nieuwe Waerelt, ... \(Dutch Edition\)](#)

[\[PDF\] Register Van Het Archief Van Groningen: Chronologisch Gedeelte, Volume 7, Issue 1 \(Dutch Edition\)](#)

[\[PDF\] Travels in North and Central China](#)

[\[PDF\] Zuid-Carolina onder Negerbestuur: Eene bijdrage tot de Kennis van Amerika \(Large Print Edition\) \(Dutch Edition\)](#)

[\[PDF\] EU Anti-Corruption Report: Report From the Commission To The Council And The European Parliament](#)

LAP LAMBERT Academic Publishing - 132516 Products Page Kim Maria LeDuff TALES OF TWO CITIES: HOW RACE AND CRIME INTERSECT ON LOCAL TV NEWS IN INDIANAPOLIS & NEW ORLEANS This dissertation Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities:How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News: In New Orleans and Indianapolis by Kim LeDuff : Language - English Available for free Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local - Saxo A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because

the black Tales of Two Cities : How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV ProQuest 2007 Kim Maria LeDuff, Kim Maria LeDuff. Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News in Indianapolis and New Orleans. Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News in reported as suspects most often in Indianapolis and blacks in New Orleans, but when Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News, news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News, news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News - Google Books Result Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News: In New Orleans and Indianapolis by Kim LeDuff : Language - English. Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV 1 Description: A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen Tales of two cities: How race and crime intersect on local TV news in Abstract: This dissertation is a case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV Tales of Two Cities How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News In New Orleans and Indianapolis, Kim LeDuff, 9783838307770, 3838307771, Pdf, Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News - Kim In New Orleans and Indianapolis A case study examining local television news How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News in Description. A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen Tales of two cities: How race and crime intersect on local TV news in Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News. In New Orleans and Indianapolis. Media sciences LAP LAMBERT Academic Publishing ProQuest Subject Index - Criminology at INDIANA UNIVERSITY A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV 1864--1917 Resiliency factors among juvenile offenders Tales of two cities: How race and crime intersect on local TV news in Indianapolis and New Orleans Tales of Two Cities - Leduff Kim Obcojezyczne A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV This dissertation is a case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV News A case study examining local television news crime stories in New Orleans, Louisiana and Indianapolis, Indiana. The two cities were chosen because the black Tales of Two Cities: How Race and Crime Intersect on Local TV Agenda -setting effects among newspaper coverage, public opinion and legislative policies of the news media in the 1970s Tales of two cities: How race and crime intersect on local TV news in Indianapolis and New Orleans The Medias